

Field: Featured article slider

Display featured articles in a slider

Category: Waterlogic fields - Articles

Displays article cards in a carousel with directional controls. This field uses a number of variables to work correctly. It will only pull in articles that are end children (have no children of their own), if this field is used on an end child page it will, by default, pull the most recently published articles from its parent. If this field is added to a parent resource it will pull in the most recently published end child resources. You can override which resources you want to feature by entering the IDs separated by a comma i.e. 1,4,22,334,85 etc.
